

Research Resource #1

- a. Title: Antibacterial products
- b. Website: Antibacterialproducts.com
- c. This article describes the different types of antibacterial lotions available for purchase today. It didn't rate them, but it rated the active ingredient for several brands. The article discussed common uses of antibacterial lotions for everyday use as well as industrial use. The article also summarized the reasons people use antibacterial lotions. It also described the proper procedures for applying the lotion. Finally, this article discussed potential health hazards connected with antibacterial use.
- d. The way this article relates to my experiment is I am testing for bacteria on shopping cart handles and most stores provide customers antibacterial wipes to clean shopping cart handles. This article may help me understand which antibacterial wipe is the best.
- e. The article helped me formulate my hypothesis by understanding which brand of antibacterial lotion is most effective.
- f. Diagram not applicable.